

Bizarre Cell Phone Accessories

Everyone has a cell phone these days but how many of us can keep up with the ever expanding line of cellular accessories and applications? Even if you pinpoint one maker like Nokia Accessories you still be hard pressed to name even fifty percent of them. While many cellular accessories still serve a practical purpose, there are more entering the market each day that function about as well as a used diaper under the sun. Here are some bizarre ones, but the author will let you decide what remains practical, because for a few, it is a subjective matter.

The Aura Tama Strap by Solar Alliance - Also known as the aura ball strap, this is the first of cellular accessories, to the authors knowledge, that can sense ones aura. The ball will change to one of eight colors depending on the energy omitted by the person in contact with the strap, revealing his or her aura. This ironic little accessory also comes with a one of three power stones; rose quartz, crystal, or amethyst. Now you can watch your aura change as you belittle the customer service representative at the other end of the phone.

The Smokers Phone - This is actually a phone and less an accessory. But it is an accessory in and of itself, and thus you can attach some other Nokia accessories from this article onto this phone, and you'll be the most geared out guy or gal around. This phone is exact size of a pack of cigarettes, with warning labels and all, and holds half a pack of smokes! Let's see your iPhone do that, guy who's always rubbin' on his phone. This Chinese made phone runs on dual-band GSM and includes MP3 playing capabilities. In addition it has a camera and color screen. Not bad for a box of cigarettes.

The Wind Chime Device - "My wind chime is gently ringing again, hold on." That's right whenever your phone rings this device will make a charming wind chime like noise. Just program the device to be in sync with your cell phone and let all those calls from the IRS and your landlord ease your pay. Has any accessory, Nokia Accessories or what have you, ever soothed you so? How's that for weird? Now, can you tell the author which of these still has practical function and which one doesn't? With all the technology out there, I'm confident I need all three but it's so hard to say. If nothing else, this stuff is captivating for a brief moment.
